MISS MARIE LOUISE STARR

Miss Starr is the daughter of Dr. and Mrs. B. Walter Starr, of 117 South 17th street. She will be introduced to society at a tea which will be given the afternoon of December 4.

JUNIOR BALL

Weightman Hall Will be Scene of Festivity Tonight for Younger Set.

The Junior Ball, the big function of Junior Week at the University of Pennsylvania, will be given in Weightman Hall this evening.

The eighteenth ball, which in the ordinary run of affairs, is simply the "Gym," has been distinguished with Italian scenery and Italian fixtures. An elaborate scheme of black and white has been worked out, which is calculated to please and surprise the most esthetic of the "trotters."

The dancers will have ample opportunity to try out all the latest "made in America" steps, for the music for all the 25 dances will be the latest and most popular "hits." As the dancers will all be of the youngest and most ardent devotees, a few new methods of tripping or rather trotting the light fantastic will be introduced.

DEBUTANTE AFFAIRS

Miss Hilda Tunis and Miss Charlotte Harding Brown to be Presented at Teas.

Two of the season's buds will make their formal bow to society this afternoon. Mr. and Mrs. Thomas R. Tunis will introduce their daughter, Miss Hilda Tunis, at a tea which they will give at the Acorn Club.

The receiving party will include Mrs. J. P. Tunis, Mrs. B. T. Boyard, Mrs. C. S. Wurta, Mrs. R. K. Wurta, Mrs. E. P. Bissell, Mrs. D. W. Wilson, Mrs. Frederick A. Packard, Mrs. James Large, Mrs. James Potter, Mrs. J. Willis Martin, Mrs. Louis Starr, Mrs. George W. Norris, Mrs. Joseph Godwin, Mrs. Lucius Landreth, Mrs. W. H. Trotter, Mrs. W. A. Dick, Miss Mary H. Ingham, Miss Julia Learning Wood and Miss Marion Biddle.

At Drumm Moir, St. Martin's, Mr. and Mrs. Samuel F. Houston will give a large reception in honor of their daughter, Miss Charlotte Harding Brown, another popular debutante.

Mr. Houston will be assisted in receiving by Mrs. Charles Wolcott Henry, Mrs. George Woodward, Mrs. George J. Harding, Miss Gertrude H. Henry, Miss Julia P. Lewis, Miss Jean N. Thompson, Miss Ruth Cox, Miss Jean C. Bullitt, Miss Cordelia Biddle, Miss Margaret H. Burton, Miss Elizabeth Thompson, Miss Louise Gibbons Davis, Miss Elsa Reath, Miss Virginia Roberts, Miss Hansell F. Earle, Miss Christine N. Clark, Miss Marie Louise Wanmaker, Miss Mary Brown Warburton, Miss Margaret Berwind, Miss Alice C. Thompson, Miss Pauline Disston, Miss Huberta Potter, Miss Emma Ashton, Dr. Miss Jane Harding, Miss Elizabeth E. Wistar, and Mrs. John Frederick Lewis will give a delightful dance in the ball room at their home, 1914 Spruce street. The rooms will be decorated with palms and chrysanthemums. About 100 guests will attend, composed almost entirely from the debutante set.

Miss Frances Connell, of 308 South 13th street, will entertain the members of her card club this evening. The game will be followed by a luncheon. Her guests will be Miss Cannon, Miss Marie Faulkner, Miss Jean Faulkner, Miss Marguerite Carroll, Miss Estelle Hatley, Miss Catherine Hatley and Messrs. John Henry, Joseph Shields, Hugh Shields, Fred Kelly, Leo Tyson, James McKerley, Harry Carroll, Charles Keane, Walter Burke and Frank McLaughlin.

Miss Marguerite Moore and Miss Sue Moore, of 122 South Broad street, are at present the guests of James Thompson, of New York city. They went to New York to attend the Thompson-Topping wedding and will remain until Tuesday next.

Miss Helen Hannigan will entertain the members of her "old" club on Monday evening at her home, 247 Carpenter street. The game will be followed by a luncheon. Her guests will be Miss Ella McDonald, Miss Viola Minter, Miss Florence Besch, Miss May Mooney, Miss Sadie Moore, Miss Margaret Hunter, Clara Cooke and Miss Loretta Cooke.

Mr. and Mrs. William Abraham, of 522 West Montgomery avenue, introduced their daughter, Miss Marjorie Jenette Abraham, at a dance last night at the Mercantile Club, North Broad street, assisted in receiving. The clubhouse was attractively decorated with yellow chrysanthemums and autumn foliage. There were 125 guests.

Bernard J. Newman, secretary of the Philadelphia Housing Commission, will be the speaker at the November meeting of the Ladies' Aid of the Home for Orphan Girls, 26th and Allegheny avenue, this afternoon. His subject will be "Industrial Training for Girls as Applied to Home-making." The meetings of the Aid Association are held once a month at the home. Mrs. Charles P. Donnelly is president; Mrs. E. F. Halvey, Mrs. Ignatius J. Horstmann and Mrs. James P. McNichol, vice presidents; Mrs. John F. X. Jones, secretary, and Mrs. Walter Nash, treasurer.

WEDDINGS

The wedding of Miss Cornelia Hughes, daughter of Doctor and Mrs. William E. Hughes, to Ensign Earle Calvin Metz, U. S. N., will take place tonight at 6 o'clock in the West Walnut Street Presbyterian Church. The Rev. Dr. J. A. McCallum, pastor of the church, will perform the ceremony.

The wedding will be a military affair. The bride, who will be given in marriage by her father, will wear her mother's wedding dress of ivory white satin trimmed with tulle and rose point lace and pearls. Her veil will be of tulle, held in place by a wreath of wax orange blossoms, the latter of which have been in the family for several generations. The bride's bouquet will also be a fascinate of that carried by her mother, consisting of bride's roses bordered by lilies of the valley, set in a conventional posy. The maid of honor, Miss Anna Everson Hughes, will be gowned in silver and pink, trimmed with silver tulle, and will wear a large black hat trimmed with silver. Her slippers will also be of silver, and she will carry a huge arm bouquet of yellow and white lilies tied with silver ribbon.

Miss Florence Dress, Miss Jessie Willis, Miss Esther McClure Hughes and Miss Eva Lee Cleveland, of New York, will attend as bridesmaids. Their gowns will be of yellow shot with silver, and their black picture hats will be trimmed with silver and faced with gold under the crown. They will also wear silver slippers and will carry pink lilies tied with silver ribbon.

Paymaster Arthur H. Mayo will act as best man, and the ushers will be Ensigns Robert H. English, Augustine H. Gray, Edwin J. Gillam, Robert T. Merrill, Charles L. Fouts and Walden L. Amosworth. They will be in dress uniform. The bride's mother will wear a gown of orchid and rose-colored velvet embroidered in gold thread. The bodice and overskirt will be of dull gold lace.

The wedding will be quite large. Following the ceremony, at which about 1000 guests will be present, a supper for the bridal party and immediate families of the bride and bridegroom will be served at the home of Doctor and Mrs. Hughes, 345 Chestnut street. The wedding attendants will remain over for the Army-Navy game tomorrow.

A very quiet wedding took place yesterday at 12 o'clock noon, when Miss Anna Weisenburger, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lewis J. Weisenburger, of 249 North 15th street, became the bride of Harry F. Klosterman. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Frank M. Ulrich. The bride was given in marriage by her father. She wore a traveling suit of dark blue broadcloth, with seal and ermine fur. Her white hat was trimmed with black paradise. Miss Weisenburger had as her only attendant her sister, Miss Florence Weisenburger.

Mr. Klosterman had Samuel C. Collins as best man.

After the ceremony the bridal couple left for an extended tour of the Northwest, and will be at home, Wednesdays, after January 15, at 2104 South 20th street.

BILLY LEDGER'S GOSSIP

There will be great doings at the Racquet Club over the week-end. Already the spacious halls are filling up with visitors from all sections of the country. Old Army and Navy men are fraternizing with the college youths here for the holiday, and the spirit of good fellowship pervades the building. Every bedroom in the club has long since been engaged, and the famous grillroom, so artistically equipped through the joint efforts of the Wheeler brothers and Horace Trumbauer, is to remain open all night for the rest of the week-end.

The court tennis and racquet matches between teams representing Philadelphia and Boston will begin Saturday morning and continue over the week-end. Most of the greatest exponents of these two pastimes, considered by many the finest tests of skill in the realm of sports, will take part.

To those who are not up on the technical details of the game of racquets it may be just as well to explain that the contestants remove most of their superfluous clothing, are each armed with a long-handled wooden bat shaped something like a carpet beater, and are then locked up together in a large stone cell, with an unlimited supply of small and remarkably hard balls, constructed almost exactly like miniature baseballs. These, when inserted in the unprotected human anatomy by a free-hand swing from a bat held by a 6-foot giant, have all the general effect of a dum-dum bullet, except that no one takes the trouble to help you out, but, instead, you are expected to smile and murmur to your opponent in pure Harvardese, "Pardon me for interfering with your stroke."

There are a number of members of the Racquet Club who have lost perfectly good eyes by being so impolite as to turn around to see what their adversaries were doing at a crucial moment. "It is better to turn a cold shoulder," as the debutante remarked of the modern sleeveless gown.

As for court tennis it is the ancient "Jeu de Paume" played originally by the monks in the French monasteries of the fifteenth century. It is as full of angles and surprises as a cubist's dream of a perfect lady. It is impossible to keep score without the aid of a table of logarithms and a professional market, but a net separates the opponents, and in this it is a trifle less bloodthirsty than racquets, although the ball is larger, heavier and just as hard, and when "Billy" Huhn hits it even the amply protected audience ducks as one man.

Among the host of clubmen who have made various wagers as to the outcome of tomorrow's football game there is one at least who, in the pale of the times, "should worry." By dint of careful study, about a week ago he succeeded in evolving a most scientific "book," based on the final three big games of the season.

He began by betting with a friend $25 to $100 that he could not pick the winners of the Harvard-Yale, Cornell-Pennsylvania and Army and Navy games. The friend promptly chose the first-mentioned colleges in each of the three contests. To cover the probable loss on the first our amateur bookmaker bet $100 to $75 on Harvard and won. Regarding the original bet still as capital account he was now $175 to the good. He then wagered $150 to $75 on Cornell, winning $75 more and bringing his capital account up to $250. He, therefore, now stands to win $125 if the Army defeats the Navy, while if the result goes the other way he pockets $250.

What's the use of bothering about the opening of the Stock Exchange, anyway? "Ned" Crozer, as he is best known to his host of friends, nearly lost an eye a couple of years ago down in Georgia. He and his guests were amusing themselves practicing shooting at clay "birds." In some manner a target was discharged from the trap in the wrong direction and caught Mr. Crozer full in the face. It was several weeks before he regained the use of his sight. He remarked at the time that he didn't know clay bird shooting was such a dangerous pastime. Why they were actually vicious!

Edward Livingston Smith, of Boston, is a guest of Mr. Crozer at his Southern home just now. A few years ago he was one of the best all-around amateur athletes in the country. Well above six feet in height, he was a match for most of the professional boxers, and often amused himself meeting them with the gloves privately. If my memory serves me, there was talk some time since of making a sort of intercity match between Mr. Smith and our own "Tony" Biddle. It should have been a "hammer," but for some reason or other the details were never arranged, and the matter was allowed to drop.
